Description

We love to showcase how geeky, spicy, earthy, and fascinating Cabernet Franc can be out of Washington. Cherries, lemon, white pepper and paprika with a hint of orange zest jump out of the glass. Followed by saddle leather, fresh strawberries and watermelon. The finish has another touch of white pepper.

The Art & Wine

Danilo DeFaria

From the artist:

All my pictures are post-processed. Some say my work is “artistic, edgy, and sophisticated”, and I am totally fine with that because that is my intended goal – to start with a photograph and transform it into a visual art creation. Many purists say “a photograph ceases to be a photograph when it is digitally manipulated through software”. But the same logic can be used to darkroom manipulation on film photography. I think there is no right answer; each one has its unique beauty. I never called myself a “photographer”, but a better description would be “mixed media and visual artist.”
